Changing skin tone is a key component of this personalization, allowing users to choose colors that align with their personal identity or creative vision.

The Technical Mechanism Behind Skin Tone Changes

Roblox utilizes a modular avatar system where the avatar is composed of various body parts that can be individually customized. Skin tone changes are managed through the 'Body Colors' module, which assigns colors to the head, torso, arms, and legs. This mechanism is designed to be intuitive, enabling users of all ages to modify their avatars easily.

Causes and User Motivations
