This approach addresses both motivational and accessibility barriers that many struggling readers face.

Context and Background

Struggling readers, often identified by lower-than-grade-level reading fluency and comprehension, encounter a double bind. Traditional texts may either bore them due to lack of relevance or frustrate them because of complexity. Hi Lo nonfiction passages emerge as a targeted intervention, seeking to reconcile these conflicting needs.

The Mechanics of Hi Lo Passages

These passages typically feature engaging topics—ranging from real-world science and history to cultural phenomena—presented through simplified vocabulary and sentence structures. Visual aids such as photographs and infographics further scaffold understanding. The low readability ensures these materials are accessible, while the high interest level maintains student engagement.

Causes for Adoption

The adoption of Hi Lo nonfiction passages is driven by several factors. The increasing recognition of diverse learner profiles necessitates materials that can adapt to varied reading abilities without sacrificing content richness. Additionally, literacy standards emphasizing informational text comprehension underscore the need for nonfiction resources accessible to all readers.
